Paraiso Kamiamakusa

Located in southwest Kumamoto prefecture, Kamiamakusa city is the gateway to the Amakusa archipelago. Surrounded by magnificent mountains and a beautiful sea, the city of Kamiamakusa is nestled within the Unzen-Amakusa National Park in an earthly paradise "Paraiso" where superb views of islands spotting the shimmering sea can be seen from the Kankai Alps. Every season brings overwhelming beauty. Nature's bounty from the calm inland sea and fertile lands provide the foundation for delectable cuisine. Historic natural hot springs heal your body and soul. Enjoy almost every mountain and sea experience imaginable. You will be embraced in a paradise full of surprise and pleasure. Begin your journey to Kamiamakusa!

Views of Amakusa Gokyo, five famous bridges connecting the islands of Amakusa, await you.

Kamiamakusa is synonymous with Amakusa Gokyo and Matsushima, the five bridges that connect the palm tree islands.
The first bridge marks the entrance to a 30 minute scenic drive over all five famous bridges.
The contrast between the beautiful sea and the islands extends out as far as the eye can see.

Fourth bridge (Maejimabashi)

The longest bridge of the five bridges (Amakusa Gokyo).
It is a low bridge that sits just above the sea, so you can soak up the scenery from a different perspective.

Many outdoor sports can be experienced at this magnificent nature park, including camping, hiking in the marsh, and mountain climbing. In April and May, the rhododendrons are in full bloom here, and views of the beautiful Yatsushiro Kai inland sea and Unzen Mountain can be seen from the observation point year round. Spring water flows through the marsh year round, and a variety of wildlife and flowering plants can be observed here in all four seasons. The smallest dragonfly (Nannophya pygmaea) in Japan lives in this marsh. There is also a beautiful waterfall that can be seen near the marsh.

Yadake Megalith MAP P26E-2

This 13 meter long, 6 meter wide and 2.5 meter thick megalith is supported by smaller ruins. If any cultural items are ever found buried under or around this megalith, it would be classified as the largest dolmen in the world. The megalith has a cup-shaped hole in it and many petro glyphs are carved into the stone. Ceremonies similar to those held in ancient Egypt are believed to have been held at the Yadake Megalith.

A point in history where people dreamed of freedom and peace.

In the Edo period, during the Hidetada Tokugawa Shogunate in the year 1614, Yukinaga Konishi, the Christian feudal lord of Amakusa was overthrown during the Battle of Sekigahara. After the Battle of Sekigahara split the country in two, Hirotaka Terasawa Daimyo became the feudal lord of Karatsu taking over the previously Christian lands. Under Hirotaka Terasawa's strict rule, the people were taxed to the extreme with very little food for themselves, and the easy life under Christian rule became just a fond memory. With Christianity prohibited by the Edo government, Father Mamakofu prophesized that in 25 years a 16 year old genius would bring Christianity back to Amakusa. Father Mamakofu was banished to Macau shortly thereafter.

In addition to the severe tax and the ban against Christianity, several extremely poor harvests made everyday life extremely difficult for the people of Amakusa. Then, in 1637, Father Mamakofu's prophecy came true when Shiro Amakusa appeared.

When a poor pregnant woman could not pay her taxes one winter in Kuchinotsu (Kuchinotsu-cho, Nagasaki), the shogunate decided to make an example out of her and threw her into a freezing river killing her.

The public was outraged and called for a war for independence. Shiro Amakusa led the people in a revolt against the shogunate, starting in Shimabara and fighting their way into Ohyano City. In the beginning, the uprising won the Ohshimago (Amakusa city) War and the Machiyamaguchigawa (Amakusa city) War. They hoisted the cross instead of a flag and dreamed of paradise, a free and peaceful country. With their momentum building, the uprising laid siege to Tomioka Castle (Reihoku-machi), but the castle proved impregnable and they gave up their attack. Three months later the uprising crossed the sea to lay siege to Hara Castle (Shimabara-city, Nagasaki), but by that time the shogunate's army had arrived and the uprising was overwhelmed by vastly superior numbers.

Shiro Amakusa Memorial Hall is a testament to that history and the dream of peace and freedom. The cause of the Amakusa/Shimabara war, southern barbarian culture, Shiro Amakusa's character, and other historic events are all exhibited in great detail in the Memorial Hall. You will feel like you are a part of history and Shiro Amakusa's dream as you experience all that the Memorial Hall has to offer.

Anecdote 1 Souiken Mori, Witch Doctor

He was one of Shiro Amakusa's staff during the uprising. Shousetsu Yui, a strategic analyst at the beginning of the Edo period, used Souiken Mori as his witch doctor. His use of magic was further described in Futaro Yamada's novel, "Makaitensho". Known by the locals (yanagi area in Ohyano-machi) a "Morisuke-san", a Shinto shrine was built in honor of Souiken Mori. Locals still pray to Souiken Mori to this day when they have a toothache, and many people claim to have had a miraculous recovery.

Anecdote 2 Shiro Amakusa is from Kamiamakusa City!

Though the story of Shiro Amakusa leading 37,000 people against the shogunate is thought to be a legend filled with mystery and romance, Shiro Amakusa was a real person. The son of Jinbei Masuda and Marta (baptized name), he was a Ronin for the house of Konishi. In a word, Kamiamakusa is the hometown of Shiro Amakusa, and his real name was Shirotokisada Masuda. The Memorial Hall clearly explains this story through sight and sound, and is a spot we highly recommend you to visit.

This is a portrait of the 16 year old Shirotokisada Amakusa. It is said that he was very handsome in his time. (Shiro Amakusa Memorial Hall)

The Memorial Hall clearly explains the story of Shiro Amakusa through sight and sound, and is a spot we highly recommend you to visit.

Connection between Kamiamakusa and Shiro Amakusa

Southern Barbarians Folding Screen / The image on this folding screen is of a trading port in Japan where the trade captain and all of his employees are rushing out to greet the missionaries. There are only a total of seventy folding screens in Japan that have vivid colors and beauty equal to this screen. This screen was painted by Naizen Kono and is the property of the Kobe Municipality. There is a replica of the Southern Barbarians folding screen in the Kamiamakusa Memorial Hall.

The everyday charm of beautiful scenery.
 “The hard shell of city living melts away
 among the beautiful scenery.”

They fell in love with the people of Kamiyamakusa and decided to move here.
 “We made many wonderful friends here and are busy everyday having fun.”

Mr. and Mrs. Koda lived in an apartment in Saitama, just outside of Tokyo, before moving to Kamiyamakusa. Mr. Koda's hobby is fishing, and once he saw the magnificent sunset in Kamiyamakusa, he immediately thought “I want to live here” and discussed the idea with his wife. The next time both of the Koda's visited, Mrs. Koda immediately understood the charm of Kamiyamakusa and they decided to move here at once. At first, the rest of the family did not agree with the move, but they quickly changed their minds upon visiting Kamiyamakusa.

Their relatives felt not only the natural beauty, but also the relaxing daily life and comfortable living space. Their relatives now come to visit almost every year. “The large scale of nature in Kamiyamakusa melts away the hard shell of city living.” Mr. Koda enjoys, golfing, fishing and photography every day. Mrs. Koda enjoys going shopping with friends in Kamiyamakusa City and Kumamoto City. The Kodas delight in the active lifestyle they live every day.

The Kodas have lived here for 10 years. They can walk from their house to the shimmering sea in just 1 minute, and are surrounded by beautiful views every day.

The Kawamoto's garden is improving little by little, and their friends come by almost every day to help them and give them tips for improving it.

Mr. and Mrs. Kawamoto had lived in Tokyo before moving to Kamiyamakusa. Mrs. Kawamoto wanted to enjoy country living, so they decided to make the move. They searched a variety of places throughout Japan to settle down in, and after visiting many places they decided to move to Kamiyamakusa. They made their decision to settle down in Kamiyamakusa after meeting a high school student there who had a very pure heart. “The student kindly greeted us with an open heart when we met for the first time, and we thought to ourselves that there must be many wonderful people where such a kind young person lives.” It has been 2 years since they moved to Kamiyamakusa. Unlike Tokyo, the shy, yet kind and friendly character of the people here creates an atmosphere that puts you at ease. The city sponsors various events, festivals, associations, etc. to enjoy that make living here and meeting people fun and easy. The Kawamotos have many wonderful friends here, and enjoy spending time with those friends and learning new cooking and gardening techniques from them.

Amakusa Pearl Line Marathon

The catchphrase for this marathon is "The slow person is the star." This healthy marathon happens every spring. Runners from all over Japan join the locals for this race. The cool sea breezes and beautiful scenery in Kamiamakusa make this a refreshing marathon. Kamiamakusa is the birthplace of the healthy marathon.

Amakusa Gokyo Festival

This festival is held every September to commemorate the opening of the Amakusa Gokyo (five bridges). The people of Kamiamakusa celebrate for 2 days with the Dochu dance, Hakuryusen boat race, and the Taiyo fireworks. We especially recommend watching the Hakuryusen Chinese canoe race on the marine blue sea.

Shimookogawa Fudo Shrine Festival

The Fudo Shrine Festival is a traditional event dedicated to Sumo from adults to children, and there are even "baby Sumo". Babies are dressed in Fundoshi (a Sumo ceremonial belt) and placed in a Sumo ring, and everyone prays for them to grow up healthy. This festival happens every October.

Rapeseed Blossom Walk

Rapeseed blossoms are best viewed in February, and there is a 5km walking event from the "1 million rapeseed blossom fields" to Takabutayama Mountain. After your walk, enjoy some local food and participate in a raffle.

Kirara Festival (Sunrise Walk)

This is an annual walking event that starts at Oodou Harbor Ferry Wharf in the Ryugatake area. Enjoy the "7km one-way course through the woods that has fruit and tea stands along the way."
